PORTE BELIEVES THE WAR IS OVER

Ottoman Government Realizes Resistance is Useless--Servia Makes New Claims.

Disheartened Turks Surrender Without Fight
--Heroic Montenegrin Priest.

(By Times Special Cable.)
Constantinople (by way of Kustendil), Nov. 16.—The opinion is general here that the war is practically over, and the armistice with the Bulgarians will, in all probability, be arranged within the next few days, and this will be followed by direct negotiations for peace.

The Ottoman Government fully realizes that further resistance can only prejudice the position of Turkey, and still further, its outcome is extremely problematical and might lead to even more humiliation.

With the exception of the Chauvinistic Hotspur, the bulk of public opinion is beginning to call for a truce, taken by responsible statement.

and it is generally hoped that the best possible terms will finally be secured. It is recognized that practically the whole of European Turkey has been captured by the Turks and the council of the Ottoman public debt are already taking stock of their own interests in the matter, and are of the opinion themselves when the final settlement comes up for discussion.

The general after the disaster, addressed the remnant of his army, praising their heroism. King Ferdinand stood by, nodding his approval. When the general had finished, the king said:

"General, a word with you?"

Then walking up to the general, and before the whole army, the king stripped the epaulettes from the officer's uniform. The general remained at attention for a moment, then saluting the king, "he took a few paces to the rear and shot himself."

CAN GET THE MEN

If Willing to Pay the Standard Wages.

Such Is the Position of the Trades Council.

The Hamilton Trades and Labor Council went on record last night as being strongly opposed to the proposition made by T. J. Stewart, M. P., for the importation of skilled and unskilled labor by the National Canadian Labor Association, holding yesterday, which claim, it would be impossible for it to start operations on the scale planned unless the Immigration Department permits a blanket arrangement. The council passed a resolution expressing the opinion that the company could get all the labor it wanted if it would pay the same standard of wages.

It was also decided to forward a copy of the resolution to Premier Borden and make a strong protest against any company that would import labor.

Trustee Howell's plan to rearrange the school age was criticised. The council was not certain if he had really made the suggestion, but the members, though it was a grave mistake.

The members appointed to the general committee were made permanent members of the committee, as it was considered that they would have a better idea of the situation and that the result would be more satisfactory than making changes.

A communication was received from the Ontario Federation of Labor, the council to endorse a plan to give central bodies the power to discipline unions affiliated with them. Delegates from the various trades unions were invited to speak at the Rochester congress.

An announcement was made that Messrs. Stodden and Smith, delegates from the Amalgamated Workers of Canada, at the recent Labor congress, would likely address a meeting in this town this evening, if it is held, will be under the auspices of the Independent Party.

Delegates from the Typographical Union, who came to the conference with the Curtis Publishing Company, had not been settled, and requested the council to urge it to nominate a committee which would be also to take similar action in the case of non union weekly paper.

The Courier reported that a charter for the Labor Temple Commission had been granted by the Provincial government.

BOOTH MEMORIAL

Local Army Will Raise $1,000 Shortly.

The three local corps of the Salvation Army will next week be engaged in an effort to raise a fund to erect a memorial to the late General Wm. Booth. The memorial is to take the form of training institutions for future officers, if possible, in the last wish of the late general that such might be provided for giving his officers professional training than the present machinery of the Army was capable of doing.

The proposed building will be erected in the greater centre of Army work, which building for Canada will be in Toronto, the headquarters for Salvation Army work in Canada.

It is the intention to erect a complete training institution for all branches of the work, and the cost will be $200,000. The three corps, each with a corps of 100 men, will raise $1,000 amongst them. This should not be very difficult as there are many members of soldiers of the late general who will give. The proposed building will be on Oak Hall street, and will be exhibited on Oak Hall street during November.

ONE AGAINST ONE

And Accused Was Given Benefit of Doubt.

The cases before the magistrates in the police court did not amount to much and the court treasury was not increased. In Leithfield, from Timmins, was charged with assaulting Nelly Olimick and also with selling from door to door without a license. He was given a month's probation and a fine of $10. C. W. Bell appeared for the prisoner. The magistrate said that he had bought a waist from the prisoner for $1 he offered to give her a suit for nothing and said things to her were improper. She denied with some force, however, and the defendant denied the woman's story. He was allowed to take a few steps to the rear and shot himself.

Moller came to the conclusion that he was entitled between Moller and that Moller came to Winnipeg with the intention of taking the life of his son or killing him. The boy was shot in the head and death came from a revolver in Moller's hand, and Moller killed himself with his own revolver?

RICKARD KILLING

Verdict in Mysterious St. Jean, Man., Case.

(By Times Special Wire.)

St. Jean, Man., Nov. 16.—The inquest by the body of Adrienne Rickard, wife of the late Dr. Daniel Rickard, Bob W. Bell, who affixed a coroner's certificate of suicide, was held Friday. The jury returned the following verdict:

"We have come to the conclusion that the deceased between Moller and that Moller came to Winnipeg with the intention of taking the life of his son or killing him. The boy was shot in the head and death came from a revolver in Moller's hand, and Moller killed himself with his own revolver?"

ELEVATE SURGERY

New Plan of Clinical Congress Just Ended.

(By Times Special Wire.)

New York, Nov. 16.—The third annual session of the Clinical Congress of America ended Saturday. A feature of the concluding business was a movement to elevate the standard of surgery and of surgeons in the United States and Canada. The American College of Surgeons, an institution modelled after the Royal College of Surgeons in England, was founded Saturday.

Dr. F. M. D., showing that the career is a fellow in the new institution and fully qualified to practice surgery, urged a committee to draft the plans for such standardization and for the creation for the surgical degree. The plan includes W. W. Chipman, of Montreal.

A resolution that the Congress work for a system of national hospital and hospital work was well adopted and a committee appointed to prepare plans to this end.

SHOT HIS PURSUER

Edmonton Hold-Up Man Used His Gun.

(By Times Special Wire.)

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 16.—Victor Lox, a young pool hustler, entered Bro. Brothers' crowded cafe at an early hour this morning and tried to rob the place. At the point of a revolver, he began shooting up the place, and then ran into the street and started toward Howatt Avenue. His pursuit was Samuel Law, an employee of the Canadian Northern, who strip搜了 the other passengers, took the bullet, and was fined $5 for being drunk.

(By Times Special Wire.)

Rochester, N.Y., Nov. 16.—With the committees hard at work behind closed doors, struggling with the mass of resolutions presented for discussion, rejection or adoption, the delegates at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor are idle today. There are nearly fifty resolutions to be presented to the convention, and each of them will be voted upon.

President Gompers has presented a resolution to the effect that because wars are mostly fought here on the frontiers of the country, the frontier is to be qualifed with Hamilton, visiting the leading industrial establishments and gathering information on the condition of the old country.

The resolution introduced by James P. Holland of the Central Federated Union of New York, and supported by the International, Mr. Jeffs arrived in Hamilton last night and will remain there over Sunday. He has been in Canada for some time and has just returned from Pacific Coast. Today is the day for the opening of the convention.

Hamilton Times Patterns

LADY'S HOUSE DRESS.

No. 3234. A delicate and dainty model. In a colour of this kind a woman will always look neat while at her household duties, and if made in white or other dressy fabrics, the design will prove very appropriate for afternoon wear. The oval neck opening is comfortable and pretty, the sides close in very effectively. The empire waist is broad with bows at the shoulders, and the X length sleeve leaves the lower arms free and comfortable when at work. The skirt is a five-gore model. The pattern includes a bustle, to fit 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure. It requires 6½ yards of 44-inch material for the 36-inch size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10¢ in U.S. postage stamp.

HIS NEMESIS

"Excuse me, sir. Don't you want me any more?"

Barney looked at his watch. In two hours his train left London for Paris. He sprang into the bancon and directed the driver to go slowly along the Baywater Road until he stopped. Then he turned back and again to assure himself that his eyes had not deceived him. There it was in black and white.

"We have ascertained that within a few months of landing in Australia Mr. Barnabas Brabazon, passing himself off as Mr. Villiers, stopped with a Jewish girl of two and twenty, daughter of a jeweler named Abrahams, in the hope that he would find a spot known only to himself. There was, moreover, no time for referring to them now, so jumping into his cab, he gave the direction to Park Lane.

An hour ago, he caught sight of his old friend in the Baywater, reading his features by the light of this unexpected discovery; he understood some secret of the woman's service which he had by chance overheard on the subject of his being "a chip of the old block for certain."

There were no accidental tenses, between the grey, blank-faced eyes, glancing sideways under drooping eyelids, which distinguished Lord Carlingham from every other very eyes of which he saw. But Mabyn was right, he was Barnaby's Nemesis.

The converse Jewish tie had intervened to make as well as to vulgarize the secret of his identity. The man was on the eve of becoming a mother. Through this woman's instrumentality he was arrested, and his nerves later, when he was made to believe he was staying at a first-class Melbourne hotel, with another woman, and using the name of Barnabas Brabazon.

CHAPTER XXIII.

In the romances of fifty years ago it was the custom to have heroes and heroines dying of rapid consumption as though it were a graceful and picturesque method of finding out of the world. The general idea of education, and above all of elementary sanitary knowledge, has taught the self-respecting public that this painful, painful, and ugly sight, not only is the nature of that terrible disease, but that it is a long way to recovery.

"I think I might have grown to him, dear," Mabyn said, "but you know I was shocked and surprised by his sister's death." "But it is never good to let people know you're fond of him," murmured Barnaby.

"I told him nothing about him," she said.

"That is right. I shouldn't like him to know that I was deceiving him in that way, and I used to go to him, and say 'Good-bye' to him."

"Yes, dear," said Barnaby, "I will come back, will I not? You didn't say 'Good-bye' to him, did you?"

"I have a great deal to say," she cried, feverishly. "I may not be here to say it in the morning. Mabyn, I am sorry to tell you, your boy friend has died."

"He told me nothing about him," she said.

"My poor darling! I have nothing to tell you."

"Yes, you, you. I learned a letter. Digby wrote you long ago—before the opening of the Academy," said Barnaby, "and I have written to him ever since. He showed his impatience, and the grueling service he showed by his other servants; and then, the brilliant, the dazzling possibility that he might be Barnaby's Nemesis, might really be the rightful heir to name, title and fortune, the future master where he was now the despised em-

"This was the infallible which had taken him my breath away. One had in particular rights in his case."

"Or even possibly Barnabas Brabazon."

He all flashed into his head in a moment the great house, the brilliant position of Lord Carlingham, the scornful retort to which he had recently treated the poor footman. Such scurrilous impudence, and the grueling service he showed by his other servants; and then, the brilliant, the dazzling possibility that he might be Barnaby's Nemesis, might really be the rightful heir to name, title and fortune, the future master where he was now the despised em-

"His cheeks were flushed, his eyes alight with excitement. But in the meantime he had to recollect the necessity for prompt action. It was imperatively necessary that he should appear once more to Norway, in order to verify his story, and to ascertain whether a legal marriage had been taken place between him and Jack Villiers, alias Montagu Brabazon.

In the very act of writing the message, he put down his pen, and then he remembered that the actual certificate for this marriage was in his own possession, among his precious articles he had brought from Denmark. His life was almost as certain that the woman's name was Ruth Abrahams, as that the man's name was Jack Villiers; the man who had been compelled to face no value to the female name. In my case, certificate, or no certificate, the absolute legality of the marriage must be established before he could lawfully be in the country; so he finished, and dispatched his telegram. He would

VEST EFFECTS ON SUITS AND DRESSES

Revers and Vest in One

Narrow and Straight style

WHEN the revolutionary styles conquered fashionland this season they brought with their many charming features mainly the vest, either in separate waistcoat form or incorporated with the costume. Who will deny the vest its well-deserved favor? How important a contributing factor of beauty it is shown in the general acceptance of this style; and whether the vest be one in reality or just in effect depends on the choice of the designer. The result is undeniably modish.

Vests may be of brocade, French cretonne, silk bengaline, cloth or suede. They are of contrasting colors, and are ornamented with buttons or exquisite embroidery in some cases, and are severely plain in others.

In the velvet dress there is a charming exploitation of the vest idea in broad-cloth of light shade. This is pointed at the top, buttoned by a single row of brass buttons, and its two ends show in points below the tunic of the skirt. The introduction of suede or chamois is one of the notes in velvet dresses, and this idea offers a suggestion for the use of the new fabrics. The collar, by the way, at the back of the dress is a continuation of the vest.

Persian silk in a striped design forms the wide vest on the charmeuse frock. The shield shape is outlined by shallow lapels. Below the folded girdle the vest extends in a pointed form. Two rows of plain buttons are used to decorate the front. The same silk is used for the cuffs. Here is a clever hint for making over last year's frock.

Long and Pointed on a Pannier Dress

In the tailored suit the use of the separate waistcoat or the incorporated vest is a fashionable feature. The separate vest is of broadcloth, chamois cloth or any of the ornate brocades. The white model looks quite like the vest of our brother, and besides the warmth that it provides, it gives a dashing finish to the plain coat.

Revers and vest are in one piece of white satin on the charmeuse house dress. The top of the vest is turned back, and the tiny revers fold over the side hems. Five large buttons fasten the white satin below. How simple this is, yet how modish!

Red silk bengaline forms a contrasting vest for the black-and-white cutaway suit. It is cut quite low with a straight top. Black-and-white buttons trim it. Any bright shade of velvet or silk would serve its fashionable purpose.

In a long, pointed form there is shown a vest of white silk on the black pannier dress. It opens over a chemiselet of tulie or blond and fastens at the lower portion under bone buttons. The vest effect is continued on the pannier, terminating in a point. Revers of white turn back at the top of the bodice.

In woolen ratiue is the smart vest on the diagonal serge business dress. It is cut very high, buttoned under a row of small satin disks. An inset panel of ratiue, button-trimmed, trims the outer seam of the long sleeve.

No type of dress has escaped the vest effect. Great designers have realized the possibility of vests. The utilization of lovely strips of embroidery or material is too good to ignore. Fashion has pointed to the vest as a potent factor in style and beauty. Wise women are heeding the dictum.

The International Typographical Union, its old and new members, each member contributing one half of one cent, upon earnings. Each month the local unions contribute to the headquarters the percentage of their net members. Hamilton has one printer drawing the premium.

The system permits an annual draw of the actual amount of money earned by the entire organization. In his latest report, President J. Lynch gives much information concerning the growth of membership and the increase from year to year. For the year ending May, 1910, the average earnings per member were $2,738, with a membership of 84,621. For the year ending May, 1910, the average earnings per member were $4,022.94, with an average membership of 133,116.

For the year ending May, 1912, the aggregate was $83,278.902. These figures show the growth of the organization, and the average earnings per member have declined a steady growth likewise. The average earnings per member were $8,657, in the year ending May, 1911, $8,627, in the year ending May, 1912, the figure was $8,692.

There can be no contradiction to the statement of the International Typographical Union, in regard to the use of the biggest division of the organization in its meetings at this continental head-quarters.

The strength of labor depends much upon its solidarity," said Hugh G. Godman, who represents this country, this gentleman, indicating that this "solidarity" was strong and well maintained.

From the purview of the Irish Parliament, it would seem that labor has been doing well, and the subject of discussion has been with a minimum of friction.

All talk about "labor solidarities" is but a primary object the Orange Bill. This Bill, this author says, is the only bill introduced in the House of Commons, but what is the purpose of this bill?

It is to prohibit labor from being compelled to work for himself or his employer under similar circumstances. Judge Clark failed to recognize the right of workers to engage in his employer's business.

He is afraid that labor is bound to the Government, and is in no position to do anything.

It is the administration of Mr. Palmer that the administration is neglecting child life and factories volved in these disputes, which caused a loss of about 98,000 working days.

FROM ALL QUARTERS.

Prior to the opening of the Federal House at Ottawa, Mr. J. Waters, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, was spending a few days in the city, visiting the mines of Northern Ontario.

A despatch from Montreal states that the Trades and Labor Council has already appointed a committee to make preparations for the entertainment of the delegates at the 1913 convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, which, it is expected, will be another record breaker in many respects.

The Societies' Union of North America has paid out $1,238,604 in death and disability claims in the last ten years.

The International Boat and Shoe Workers' Union reports an increase of 500 in the membership of the Boston local since March 1st.

During the month of July the International Boat and Shoe Workers' Union, shipping to all parts of the United States, where the union label is being used, a total of 90,000 labels.

Signe June 1st, 1910, up to June 1st, 1912, 62 new local organizations have been chartered by the International Boat and Shoe Workers' Union.

Five years ago the organization was composed of 85 per cent. of one nationality, and the territory of the organization was limited to the village of the Village Inn, Mr. George being on his holidays in Chicago.

D. E. Swain, real estate dealer, has made the following transfers of property of the past couple of weeks: Dr. George's residence, 1000 Main street, to Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Bryden, Ingleside; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Smye, Grimby, 100-acre farm at Tweedside; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Palmer, 1000 Main street, to Mr. and Mrs. H. Harvey, St. Catharines; to David Gunnings, the 50-acre farm of Geo. Smye, south of Grimsby.

The appeals on the voter lists will be hear by the judge on June 26. There are nearly 100.

Varsity Will Beat Heads Off McGill

So Says Chaucer Elliott--Veteran Coach Predicts Win for Blue and White.

Kingston, Nov. 15.—"On anything but a field of mud, a marsh, Varsity will beat the heads off McGill in Ottawa to-morrow." These were the words by which Chaucer Elliott, veteran coach of the football coaches and sporting authorities in Canada, expressed his opinion as to the Intercollegiate championship in a special interview with your correspondent. Elliott's analysis of the value of the two teams is no guess nor is his knowledge merely gossip of the newspaper column. He saw both McGill and Varsity, in fact, in action against each other, and from his own side lines he mentally jotted down a weakness here and a bit of strength there.

"I am convinced from what I saw that Varsity has a better team in every way," he stated emphatically. "McGill has shown himself to be little more than a great tackling club. In the game against Queen's she won easily and sole all the time play. Queen's had two men lock tackle, and they returned Hazel's kicks to Erskine, who couldn't kick, and then tackled him. I do not think that McCall's play is good enough to be able to compete with Varsity's play."

The ball did not go where they expected it would, they were at a loss. In the final edition Billington was a great kick, but had not come up to par. Round half yard Maynard has him outclassed completely. McGill looks better in a man-to-man field, but in the passing and inside football tactics go Varsity has five plays to their one."

Varsity and Maynard are two different teams, but there are thirteen good men without him, perhaps the greatest of them all is Campbell. I think that Peter Campbell the greatest quarterback in the game to-day. When Maynard made his great run at the Queen's game, while Walsh and Campbell were on the bench, the final play-off, most people have overlooked the fact that it was Campbell who got the ball. In the opening, passed to Maynard, who had the dry side of the field, and who followed him and was ready to receive the ball. Then two men, Campbell and Maynard, make the best combination that is possible. Some day Maynard will be named, that upon then will be given the credit of a victory in Ottawa on Saturday, if victory goes to Varsity. Which of the two is to be named is not known.

"Take it from me," and Chancier goes situated with emphasis, "unless Langdon can get the ball out of the hands of Maynard, he is not to be beaten. I can tell that it is not to be beaten. Varsity are going to be Intercollegiate champions again. I can't find a weak spot in their team. They are a remarkable lot. Their inside division is a trifle light and in decent weather this is a virtue rather than a defect."

McElliott talked to the reporter sitting up in bed with the newspaper strung around him. Keen-eyed and con-

Sporting Gossip

Students and staved gents will be in evidence in Ottawa this evening.

The American Legion officials, who have been strenuously arguing the value of average of averages.

Sidepinning may be art, but the art of sidepinning looks ugly compared with that of boring in.

Wendell E. Walsh, Walter Johnson, Joe Wood and Vern Gregg constitute an ideal pitching staff. This quartet of twirlers on the Varsity team were the American leaders last season. Walsh and Gregg are the stars of the final play-off, most people have overlooked the fact that it was Campbell who got the ball. College Saw-Off at Capital To-day

Varsity Objected to Having Saw-dust All Over the Field. Betting at Evens.

Ottawa, Nov. 16.—The McGill and Varsity football teams arrived here last night for the big game for the Canadian Intercollegiate championship.

The Varsity boys were the first to arrive, they reaching the Chateau Laurier at 5 o'clock after a tiresome day trip.

The McGill party, including the team and about 200 followers, came on a special train at 7:30, they registering at the Russell House. Within an hour the round-trip boats were hummimg with activity.

The Varsity boys arrived 3 to 4.

The McGill backers are holding out for odds, and to-day the real betting will take place.

Weather conditions were not favorable, it snowed again in the morning, left the gridiron under a thin blanket, but the sun shone and the snow cleared, and it is likely that to-day will be cool and clear. It was reported yesterday that the McGill team ordered a special distribution all over the city, but the Varsity officials interfered, and refused to allow the sawdust anywhere near the field.

The Varsity boys are holding out for odds, and to-day the real betting will take place.

MARKETS and FINANCE

Saturday, Nov. 16.—The usual large Saturday crowd was in attendance at the Hamilton market this morning, and things sold briskly. Prices still continue the same, but the farmers had little trouble in disposing of their goods. Potatoes took a slight drop this morning, and sold for $1 a bag, which it is said, they will go for when you will. They are very plentiful.

The meat market was dull this morning, despite the fact that it is filled with choice cuts of meat. Beef was exceptionally plentiful, and sold more briskly than any other sorts, and at a very low price.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA

being killed in an automobile accident Sunday night.

On Monday the Chicago run of "Fine Feathers," Eugene Walter's most recent success, reached its 100th performance. This is the first production either in New York or elsewhere to reach 100 performances this season.

Lida Kane is starring this season in "The Yoke," and has been meeting with great success in the role of Angelica.

Jack Hall has joined the Eugene Blair company playing "Madam X."

Mabel McElroy has returned to the Broadway stage.

A. H. Woods is to make a musical production called "Love in a Lemon."

Addie Reban is back in this country after a stay of eighteen months in England.

Chaucer Olcott is singing several new songs of his own composition this season.

François Starr's New York Engagement in "The Case of Beck" has proved successful.

Mile. Davis is planning to have a little "Babes" of her own in New York, devoted to pantomime and dancing.

Wealthy Clark has been engaged for a prominent part in "The Millions," and it is declared this is her real name.

Henry Miller says the costume play due to arrive this season, and that he is thinking of one concerning the early days of Virginia.

Augustus Thomas has completed a new comedy which is to be produced by W. H. Harris this month. The name, not yet decided upon.

When her present vaudeville tour is concluded Mrs. Reeves, the English actress, will become the star in a musical comedy under the direction of Martin Beck.

"It's that man you just interested, I know him well, he'll be in my mouth shut at the right time." "Yes, he's trying to get accustomed to his new teeth." —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MISS GLADYS NOBLE,

Dainty young lady who will be Trixie in "San Toy."

GLANFORD

Another of the old and well known residents of Glanford has been removed by the death of Mrs. Matilda J. Leonard, who passed away at her home in Glanford, on the Bunker farm, on October 26, at the age of 82 years ten months and three days. Mrs. Leonard was born in the township of Glanford, on the Bunker farm, in 1830, and died in the same place on the 26th of her birthday. She was a descendant of the early settlers of the town of Glanford, and will always be remembered as an extensive land owner in and around where the city of Hamilton now stands. She had also a number of very interesting stories to tell early life in her "forest home," but being of rearing disposition, she did not care to relate them. Her son, Mr. W. A. Henderson, was twice married, first in 1846 to Mr. Seth Smith, and in 1866 to Mrs. Mary McFarlane, who leaves one son and one daughter, two brothers and one sister. The interment took place at St. Paul's Church, Burlington, on October 28th, at 10 a.m. The funeral service was conducted by Mr. Pugley.

"It's that man you just interested, I know him well, he'll be in my mouth shut at the right time." "Yes, he's trying to get accustomed to his new teeth." —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

My Digestion Is Now Good

And I Feel Like a Young Man Since
Using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Dr. A. T. Smith.

What a horrible condition gets into when the liver and kidneys are sluggish and the bowels constipated. The poisonous waste matter is thrown into the body, all parts of the body, causing pain and aches and feelings of fatigue and weariness.

It is wonderful how quickly Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills work to remove the effects of digestion, to resume their natural functions, and to restore the body to health.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have suffered for many years from bad directions. I have written to many doctors, and have used two boxes I have not noticed great improvement, and after the fourth box I was disappointed.

The back is a great trouble, and the tension is good. I never feel any pain in the back, and the tension is good.

CANADA'S YOUNGEST SOLDIER

Little Russell Simons and his grandfather, Sergeant Simpson, at camp this year and created much interest and entertainment there.

Things Military Here and Everywhere

In keeping with the general government's idea of making the empire one was formed for the development of the best there is in the success of the country for national commercial success, and scores of meetings and congresses were held throughout the dominion army to bring about the same result.

One of the most important of these was the Gloucester Diocesan Magistrate's meeting, held at Gloucester, and it was reached by means of exhibits and lectures over 3,000,000 people, a record which very few, we think, have reached.

The drill season has also come to a close for the units in the old armories, and the men are now awaiting the arrival next spring. The corps made a record this season in attendance and all officers and men were present to witness the march made.

A big supper is to be given to the men in the near future, and the awarding of prizes to the best marksman, and the same will be done again.

There are many good units in the old hall, and the prize list will be a big one.

Units off the coast will be getting things like ships for the event.

Official messages from Ottawa confirm the following:

The executive committee of the Canadian Defense League will ask Col. W. Hamilton Merritt, president of the League, to go to England and invite Lord Roberts while in England and invite him to visit Canada and conduct a series of addresses on the subject of Canadian defense.

The following attended the meeting: Col. Fotheringham, J. Enoch Thompson, P. R. Murray, H. Farnsworth, R. S. Hunter, W. J. Ross, J. C. Bryson, and W. C. Froats, S. P. C. Carleton, G. W. Brown, Peter Pettigrew, and Major W. G. Brown, West Ayler.

The members of the Ottawa St. Andrew's Society are launching an agitation for the formation of a Highland regiment.

The cut in the military column this week is from a photograph of Little Russell Simons, a young boy in uniform, who has never attended camp. He is a Hamilton lad, about six years of age, and took great pleasure in his cutting out. He is a member of the 1st Battalion, and each morning he would attend with the rest of the camp and go through the daily routine. The great feature of the camp is in many a good time the young soldiers, listening to tales of soldier life and the way he would like to grow up to be a soldier. The mounted gentleman shown in the cut is the little boy's grandfather, W. P. Simpson, connected with the local Fire Department. It was he who taught the boy to west to camp. The lad is well known around the armories, and is given many good times. "Grandpa" thinks the world of his little grandson, and intends to take him to the next cutting that the soldiers have.

Sen. Sir George, a soldier of repute, and although he has not been in any great way, he has a record that any would be proud of. At the age of sixteen he joined the 1st Battalion, and after serving in the corps for three years when he decided to quit soldier life, the attraction was too great, and after being given a short time off, he joined the 1st Battalion and joined the bobby. For the past fifteen years he has been in the 1st Battalion, and during that time he has been with that unit, and during that time he has been a star at camp. This was the little fellow's first outing with the soldiers, and after a great deal of coaxing by the boys he has decided to take the lid off again.

The campings reports are reaching us from India regarding the pay and position of the British officer, both in the Indian and Home Government Services.

TAKE WOOD ASH BATHBritain at War in a Savage
Country Whose People Have Queer Customs

With the object of making peace between two strange African tribes about which little was previously known, Great Britain has sent a force upon the "country" which may drag on for months—perhaps years. The two tribes are the Anuaks and the Nuer, who live near the border line between Abyssinia and the Sudan, and who have been quarrelling for years. The Nuer are the most primitive of the two tribes, and are entitled to British protection, but up to now, they have not needed it. In fact, so long as they fought the Anuaks with their bows and arrows, they were the aggressors, but this was so until quite recently, the Nuer easily beat their adversaries, but soon after the arrival of the Royal Engineers, three battalions, the emblem of an Admiral of the Fleet.

Thus armed the Anuaks made a series of murderous raids on the Nuer, driving them southward and carrying off their cattle and women. The British, as usual, sent a force to put things right for a while, but as it began to look as if the Nuer would be wiped out altogether, an expedition, numbering 300 men, was sent to the frontier, among them the Royal Engineers, to assist the Anuaks. In a pitched battle, the native force was killed practically to a man, and the British lost only one man, 43, including three native and two white officers.

The Nuer armed the Anuaks

with bows and arrows, and the Nuer, who are a strong, wiry race, and wear very few clothes, at first sight of the British force, fled.

Now the fact is that though they naturally are dark brown in color, they appear to be white.

The result is that about the strangest "baths" on record.

In front of every hut is a pool of white dust which serves as a protective shield from other insects. On great occasions, the ash, by the addition of an evil-smelling sticky substance, is applied to the body, and the Nuer smear themselves having then the appearance of being pale, thin, and emaciated. They also dye their hair red and wear it studded out straight behind. It is kept in place with

BRITAIN'S NEW SEALS

A most important work undertaken at the Admiralty Mills was the cutting of the new great seal and counter seal of England. In character the seal resembles the famous Bretby seal of Edward the Third (1360-69).

King George is represented seated on the globe, wearing a crown and robes, holding in his right hand the sceptre and his left hand a sword. He wears a canopy and on either side a niche, within each of which is a figure, being the coat of arms of the United Kingdom. Standing beside the niches are two figures, one representing Justice and the other Truth.

In contrast with this elaborate design is that of the counter seal. On this the design is simple, showing the admiral of the fleet standing on the deck of a Dreadnought battleship. Immediately below the royal figure are three anchors, the emblem of an Admiral of the Fleet.

Thus armed the Anuaks made a series of murderous raids on the Nuer, driving them southward and carrying off their cattle and women. The British, as usual, sent a force to put things right for a while, but as it began to look as if the Nuer would be wiped out altogether, an expedition, numbering 300 men, was sent to the frontier, among them the Royal Engineers, to assist the Anuaks. In a pitched battle, the native force was killed practically to a man, and the British lost only one man, 43, including three native and two white officers.

The Nuer armed the Anuaks

with bows and arrows, and the Nuer, who are a strong, wiry race, and wear very few clothes, at first sight of the British force, fled.

THE MAN IN OVERALLS

The bell has rung. Hurry out after your presents. The clerks are waiting for you.

People who run dance halls contrary to the Spec. if they hire one, especially if they hire one.

The School Trustees would be obliged to the Spec. if it would try to decent when talking about them.

I am to understand that the mayor's lawn sprinkling edict is still in force?

An official garage can now be the leading destination.

I am informed that a newspaper route boy has been sent to two stand up in a street car to make room for ladies. That showed his good newspaper training. The day may come when an editor and call himself "We."

How the sound of the voice does bewitch us. Is he a pervert or querulous or angry or arrogant in talking through the phone? If the person doesn't know you, why don't you take the ball of the phone? And when you hang up the receiver with a sudden snap that means "Hang it" write yourself down a boor.

I think we are entitled to a dry Sunday to-morrow. But, of course, it's not me, is it?

Perhaps you had better see if the choir needs any new names for the Christmas service. Don't think it.

I thought that yellow journalism would come to the bad some day.

I am really pleased to see Mr. Herold come forward as a candidate for the school board. May I ask if any of the gentlemen trustees would step aside for the sake of a lady?

I have yet to meet the person who is opposed to the purchase of the face of the man in the city, and I don't expect to meet him.

It is not so much a question if there is any sense, for I don't know what that latest betting business.

It has just occurred to me that William Findlay might want to get into the civic game once more.

After all, we can't blame the street railway people for the condition of the east end streets. That's the worst of it.

Crown Attorney Washington is no lady, else he would never have made such unkind-like remarks regarding the handling of the case to be tried before a lot of bold men in the court room. "However could he do it, and he such a nice man?" said a suffragette to me, "and he is a lawyer and a conundrum to me and I could not answer."

There is no truth in the report that the alleged chicken thief will be tried at Association Hall on Tuesday evening has given the police the slip and disappeared. It is also denied by the police officials that the thief has paid through the third degree. The Court, who considers his capture a feather in his cap, as usual, refuses to talk, but experts say that they have got the right man, and that also means justice.

LATE MR. W. M. RAMSAY.

Mr. William Miller Ramsay, whose death was reported in the news last week, and who was buried yesterday, was brother of Mr. A. G. Ramsay, formerly manager of the Canada Life Assurance Company, and known as "The Laird," and was one of the finest types of manhood that could be imagined. He stood six feet 2 inches, and in spite of his 76 years was a young man and associated with young people. He was a man of the highest ideals, of broad abundant charity, and was ever on the lookout for the opportunity to do good.

M. C. A. BIBLE STUDY CLUB

Fourty-four members attended last night at the Y. M. C. A. Bible Study Club, and interest in this departmental work is evidently deepening. Chairman Wilfred Ward welcomed the new members with a hearty hand shake and a smile. Robert McIlrath, secretary-treasurer, and his wife, the Rev. Mrs. McIlrath, were present. The club is in good financial condition, having a balance of $100 in the right side. The supper last night was provided and served by the young leaders of the First Street Baptist Church, and the teacher, Mrs. E. B. Best. Any young men desiring to take up the Bible study course would do well to attend next Friday evening at 6.30.

METHODIST MEN'S MOVEMENT.

Delegates from the various Provinces will attend to attend the Methodist Men's convention next Tuesday evening, to be held in the Canadian Methodist Union. A provincial Methodist Men's Society will be formed, with the purpose in view of furthering interest in the prohibition movement.

A series of lectures, which promise to be of great interest, will be delivered by Rev. T. S. Bartlett, Rev. D. T. Albert Moore, N. W. Rowell, K.C., and Mr. Geo. L. Smith. The general meeting will be present at both the general convention, and the banquet to be held in the evening, and an informal nature will be delivered.

$400,000 INDIANAPOLIS FIRE.

(By Times Special Wire.) Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 16.—The plant of the Van Camp Packing Company was partially burned early to-day, the owners estimating their loss at about $400,000.

While the flames were at their height a quantity of water was burst, and for a while the firemen, who were with streams from two engines, which had been raised from a pump, were unable to stop the pressure was restored and the stream soon had the blaze under control.
